

PREPARED FOR STEVE · CONFIDENTIAL

DIGITAL & MARKETING PLAN

Three Businesses, One Plan.

Island House · The Bakery · Sancier Property — how we'll approach each, what the best in the market are doing, and how we beat them.

Pullen Marketing · Prepared by Dominic · July 2026
Phase 1 — Planning & Comparables

How we'll work together

Nothing gets built on guesswork. Every project follows the same five steps, and you're consulted at the point that matters — before we build, not after. The aim is that you always know exactly what's happening and always get the final say.

Step	What happens
1. Understand	Define exactly what the project is, the goal, and the constraints — and confirm you're happy before going further.
2. Comparables	Find the best players in the market. What they do, what works, what doesn't, how it looks.
3. Present to you	Show you the comparables: what do you like, what don't you like? This is the alignment checkpoint.
4. Build	Design and build only what you've effectively pre-approved. Progress reported as we go.
5. Run & report	Ongoing content to a fixed weekly schedule, plus a clear monthly report per business.

This document is Step 2 & 3 for all three businesses at once — the top players, and where our opening is. Mark up what you like and don't, and we build from your reactions.

The three businesses at a glance

Business	What it is	The headline job
Island House islandhouse.wales	16th-century Grade II* listed building in Laugharne — Britain's medieval port township — becoming a hotel, bar & restaurant.	New website + rigorous restoration documentation + the public story, told as it happens.
The Bakery new build	Premium organic rotisserie bakery. No additives, quality product (~£3 loaf), juice.	New online shop + weekly subscription boxes + local, organic marketing.
Sancler Property sanclerproperty.co.uk	West Wales house-builder. Developments including Clôs Hugdon, Laugharne (42 homes). Site is currently all CGI.	Replace CGI with real photography + video walkthroughs of the homes and the setting.

The Bakery

A premium organic rotisserie bakery with no website yet — so we build clean from scratch. The two names to beat are both local, and — crucially — both leave the same door wide open.

The two to beat are on your doorstep

Local player	What works	What we take / beat
Rock'N'Dough Narberth · Steve's target	Superb artisan reputation — wall-to-wall 5-star reviews, genuine "watch the baker" charm; premium ("pricey but worth it"); reviewers compare it to a Paris patisserie. Click-and-collect shop.	They sell out most days and run no subscription and no delivery — customers queue early and miss out. We win on guaranteed supply : reserve-ahead + a weekly organic subscription + delivery.
Crwst Cardigan & Emlyn	Award-winning, polished multi-site Welsh brand; strong online shop + delivery; recipe content; merch.	A mailing-list "club" but no weekly box . We own the weekly-subscription habit and stay a pure organic bakery.

THE GAP

Neither local runs a weekly bread subscription. That's the wedge — a weekly organic loaf people can rely on, ordered online, delivered or reserved. National models (Earth & Wheat, Hobbs House, The Bread Butler) prove subscriptions work; we bring it local and premium-organic — and it directly answers Rock'N'Dough's daily sell-outs.

The plan

- Build the site from scratch — premium, organic, appetising; match Rock'N'Dough's artisan warmth and Crwst's polish.
- Online shop — order and pay online; collection and local delivery.
- Weekly subscription — a bread box people sign up to, easy to pause or cancel; expandable to bundles.
- Easy marketing wins — local + organic SEO, Facebook, strong food photography, the weekly-box offer front and centre.

OUR ANGLE

"Your weekly organic loaf, freshly baked." Premium, local, organic, subscription-led — a weekly habit, not a one-off queue.

Island House

A 16th-century landmark reborn as a boutique hotel, bar and restaurant — with a heritage story most places would dream of: cannon-scarred Civil War walls, Roman remains found on the grounds, and a setting in Britain's last medieval port township of Laugharne.

The plan

- Rebuild the website — the current one is stale (last updated 2023). A proper home for the story and the live restoration.
- Documentation engine — dated, timestamped records with evidence layers. One capture serves two jobs: the works record and the public story. First task: sort the large existing photo library.
- Tell it as chapters — people follow the restoration from ruin to opening.

Hospitality benchmark — the one to beat

Player	What works	What we take / beat
Grove of Narberth Pembrokeshire ★	15th-c longhouse taken from derelict to luxury; the restoration redemption story ; dual dining; hyperlocal sourcing; warm — not sterile — luxury.	Almost our blueprint. We beat it by going live and transparent — audiences watch our restoration happen — and by owning the medieval-port + Dylan Thomas story.
The Fife Arms · Roch Castle · Landmark Trust	Restoration as a cultural event & PR moment; medieval shell + modern luxury; documenting each building's story as the product.	Turn our reopening into an event ; medieval shell + contemporary luxury; documentation-as-story .

How the great heritage places capture the story

You wanted a wide view of how history is captured and told — museums, big estates, and (a French favourite) medieval France. The pattern that fits Island House best is clear: make the restoration itself the attraction.

Place	How they capture it	The best bit for us
Guédelon Burgundy, France ★	Building a 13th-century castle from scratch, using only medieval methods, since 1997 — visitors watch it rise over decades.	The process IS the story. Document our restoration live; make the craft visible; people follow it for months and years.
Mary Rose Portsmouth	Museum built around the raised Tudor ship; tells the science of saving it + the human stories through found objects.	Build the story around the building & its finds — our Civil War walls, Roman remains, the Etruscan urn.
Jorvik York	Immersive, sensory recreation grounded in the real archaeological dig.	Immersive but evidence-true .
Puy du Fou / Carcassonne France	History as emotional spectacle; a restored medieval city where the act of restoration is itself the story.	Theatrical reveal moments ; restoration-as-narrative.
The Newt / Chatsworth	Estate heritage + hospitality + membership + a stewardship narrative.	A followers / members base who feel part of saving something rare.

THE BIG IDEA

Don't wait for the opening — sell the restoration itself. Guédelon proves people will follow a medieval build for years. Island House can own "Britain's only medieval port, brought back to life" as a living story, chapter by chapter.

Sancler Property

A West Wales house-builder with real, finished homes — but a website still selling them with computer renders. Buyers trust what they can see. Real photography and video walkthroughs will do the selling the CGI can't.

The plan

- Real interior & exterior photography of the actual homes — replacing the CGI.
- Video walkthrough of the houses (inside) and a development / "village position" film (the setting).
- Update the website — swap in the real imagery, keep listings current (sold / available / new phases).
- Start with the hero development — likely Clôs Hugdon, Laugharne (42 homes) — to confirm with you.

What the best are doing — and our opening

Top player	What works	What we take / beat
David Wilson / Redrow via Panoptic, Apollo3D	Dressed show-home photography + video tours + 360 interactive walkthroughs + lifestyle/location film.	Match the standard: photo + walkthrough + 360 tour per house type.
Border Oak / Millwood	Premium real photography and craftsmanship / build-quality storytelling.	Sell on real character and quality , never renders.
Savills New Homes	Aspirational presentation; virtual tours as standard.	Aspirational framing for the listings.

OUR ANGLE

"Real homes, real craftsmanship — in a place worth living." Pair honest photography and walkthroughs with the Laugharne setting. Real beats render every time.

The rhythm & what's next

Consistency is what makes this work. A fixed weekly schedule means we're never re-deciding what to do — each day has a job — and you get a clear monthly report on every business.

A working week (example — to shape with you)

Day	Focus
Monday	Progress capture — Island House restoration & Sancler site
Tuesday	Edit, tag & file; keep the media library in order
Wednesday	Bakery content — product photography & social
Thursday	Publish updates — websites & social
Friday	Weekly recap & plan the week ahead

What we need from you to move

The Bakery

- Confirm the name & whether the wine bar is part of it
- The product people already come for
- How orders work today & volume you can handle

Island House

- Access to the website & the existing photo library
- The restoration timeline & big moments
- What we can publish (any heritage sensitivities)

Sancler Property

- Which development we shoot first
- Access & timing to film the homes
- Who can give us website access to swap the CGI

Across all three

- What success looks like in 12 months
- Which is most urgent right now
- Logins so we can manage everything from one place

NEXT STEP

Sit down together, go through the comparables, and capture your likes and dislikes. From there, we start building — beginning with the bakery, since it needs to go live first.